STATE REPUBLICAN LEAGUE Call for the Executive Committee to Select Delegates to Cleveland.

To the Executive Committee of the Republican State League of West Virginia:

We have fixed the 18th day of April, 1895, for said committee to meet at the Blauerhassett holel, in Parkersburg, at I o'clock p. m., to select congressional and delegates-at-large to at tend the National Republican League meeting to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, June 19, 20 and 21, 1835. We arge that each member of the com-mittee be present.

In the Interest of Monopoly.

In various places there are movements to compel new electrical enterprises to put wires under ground. They are meeting with popular opposition bepublic interest. On the contrary, they are known to be in the interest of continuing monopoly. There is such a movement in Pittsburgh, and the Dispatch sounds the alarm in a vigorous article headed "A Very Large Snake." Here is part of the article:

One of the most iniquitous bills ever intro-duced in Phubungh councils is the one govern-ing electric heat. Hight, power and referranh companies. It was presented by Philip Film last week.

companies. It was presented by family Film last week.

If the bill becomes a law it will shut out any compellion to the present companies in that business from ever retting a footnoid in Pitts-business from ever cetting a footnoid in Pittsburgh.

It will permit the present telephone monopoly to continue its extortionate charges, and make subscribers pay more for telephone service than is demanded in any other civir in the world.

It will give the present electric light companies the right to continue charging much more for their service than is demanded even in small concerns. As we will be sufficient to the city by small concerns.

Pittsburgh capital for the benefit of Pittsburgh people in a line of business, powerful though yet in its infancy, and rob the citizens of many comforts that electricity is certain to develop and which, if fair competition were allowed, would be produced cheapity enough for general use.

use. If Pittsburch councils pass this inequitous or-dinance telephones will continue to be a luxury that only wealth can enjoy or absolute necessity raust make use of. They will never become a convenience for the house of an ordinary cit-zen, such as they are in many other cities. The same conditions apply to electric lighting.

quite a number of ordinances for other com-panies desiring to do business have been smoth-ered by the corporation committee. If the new bill goes through it is likely there will be no op-position to granting franchises for such com-panies in the future, but the franchises will be worth unthing to those who get them. It would be a great step in advance if all electrical wires could be got under ground, but it would be a direct loss to the people if their desire to have this accomplished should be played upon to deprive them of the benefits which should follow the expiration of patents which have made millions for their

Wheeling churches did themselves credit in the way of Easter music. The only regret was that nobody could hear Repairing the Damage.

The city authorities have wisely dermined to cause the standing walls of wrecked Hutchisson and Chapman buildings to be taken down, and the work commences this morning. It would not be safe to allow those walls to stand, and as there some questions between interested parties it was right for the city, representing all the people and being charged with the public safety, to step in and cut the knot.

It may be that the wall of the Green & Laing building would not fall if let alone, but to be on the safe side that firm will raze the old wall and build a new one. The Turner estate will do its part. In a little while the wreck will have been cleared away and new build ings will be erected on the site. Everything can be restored but the lost lives, the most valuable of all.

Turny is no April fool about the in come tax. It may hurt your feelings. but you must pay it. The supreme court has not left much of it, but so much as is left must be obeyed.

Good For West Virginia.

The lowest point for petroloum was reached in October, 1892, when the market dropped to 50 cents a barrel for crude. At that price oil that was not produced under very favorable circumstances was produced at a loss. There was not much inducement to the "wildcatter" to go ahead, and prospecting in new fields fell accordingly.

This time last year oil had risen to 82 cents, and the drill was quite active, but its operations did not make up for the dwindling production. The hope of some great new field was not realized. By the first of this year the price had reached 95 cents. This and the promise of something still better stimulated work, but still the new field was not developed. Consumption continues to increase while production falls off.

There will be an increase in produc tion due to the numping of small wells prices, but all the oil that can be got out of these wells will not bring up production to the demands of the market, There will be an addition to production in territory known to be capable of yielding a small production to the well, and there will be a rush of "wild-catting" in territory that gives any promise at all. West Virginia is bound to profit by the state of the market. Money will be spent in the state for development and there will be more producing wells. Whether another Sistersville field will roward the plucky prospectors remains to be seen, but there is more oil in West Virginia than has been found. We should have some good reports from the lower end of the state.

THE Easter bonnet was very shy yesterday. If it ventured out there was danger of it being frostbitten.

Let the Oil Market Alone. In these days of booming oil those who produce that article are flading some compensation for their long wait ing. They are engaged in legitimate industry and are on the safe side of the market.

The case of those who do not produce oil is quite different. For them the market is full of possible pitfalls. To get into the merely speculative pool is to get into dangerous water where many a sanguine man has been drowned. Nobody can foretell whether oil is going higher or whether it is going to drop."

The brokers show very pointedly the uncertainty with which they regard the situation. They want larger margains than ever before, so that if the bottom goes out they will not go out with it. They figure the dollar mark as the point of safety for them, and they want margins placed with them on the basis of a possible decline to a dollar a barrel.

This should be a hint to the wise. But in speculation few men are wise enough to keep their fingers out of the fire. It should also be borne in mind that the great Standard concern has its hand on the tiller. It can guide the market to a safe haven or run it on the rocks.

It is much like betting on a horse race. First of all you don't know which horse would win in a fair race; and then you don't know whether the race has been sold and is to be jockeyed. If you don't bet you don't lose. Those who keep out of the oil market will lose nothing in it.

The INTELLIGENCER does not for a mo ment suppose that all of its readers will take this advice, but it knows that they will be on the safe side if they do take it.

The Standard oil monopoly's patent has not expired. It is still in the ring and bossing the show.

An April Fool Joke.

It is at least probable that the letter to the Hawiaan government asking the recal! of Minister Thurston went out on the steamer which carried the minister home. If it should strike his governmeut as a pretty play in diplomacy to give him charge of the foreign office, Mr. Thurston would be on deck in time to write to Secretary Gresham acknowledging receipt of his polite note and advising him that Mr. Tourston no longer represents liawaii in the United States of America.

A missive of this sort would give : clever man an opportunity to say in a thoroughly diplomatic way things that would grate harshly on the feelings of Secretary Greeham, and there is not a thing he could do about it except to saw wood.

If the passage at arms between Secretary Gresham and Minister Thurston were to round up in some such way as this it would go down into history as one of the most memorable of April fool jokes.

SPEAKING of the coming woman, of one thing we may be reasonably sure: she will not come home at an unseemly hour between midnight and morning and waste her sweetness fumbling for the keyhole.

Income Tax Returns.

This is the last day for making income tax returns covering last year. If vonr income was over $3,500 for the year you must make the return, although you pay the tax on so much only as exceeded $4,000. Under the decision of the supreme court the income tax cannot be levied on so-much of the income as is derived from rents or from state, county or city bonds. When a person coming within the scope of the law does not make his return the collector of internal revenue may make it for him and add 50 per cent to the amount of the tax.

Amono Republican national committeemen and chairmen of state committees McKinley is far in the lead for President, although other good men are spoken of. The Democratic politicians prefer some other man for Republican nominee. They need not get excited. The Republican nominee will be the President. Governor McKinley would be a tine one. He is able and he is honest.

One who must pay an income tax can afford to pay it, but this is not the point involved. It is not a just and equitable tax, and this is one reason why it should be swept away. Another good good reason is that it opens private business to be pried into by public officers. Still another reason is that it is a tax on industry.

THE boom edition of the Columbus Evening Dispatch, seventy-two pages of carefully prepared matter with abundant illustration, reflects great credit on that newspaper and the community for which it speaks. It is a very journalistic Jumbo in quality as well as quantity.

What a Leading Commercial Paper Says of its Growth.

The last issue of the American Grocer, of New York, contains a lengthy illustrated descriptive article concerning one of Wheeling's industries, which is rapidly becoming one of considerable importance. The two principal pre-serving works here, those of the George K, McMechen & Son Company and the Flaccus Brothers, have grown to large proportions lately, and their products are known all over the country. The article in the American Grocer referred to describes the McMechen company's works, and among other things says: importance. The two principal pre-
